

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

László Csaba (49) is a graduate of the Budapest University of Economics with a PhD (1984) and Postdoc/D.Sc.Oec from the Hungarian Academy of Sciences (1996), dr. hab at the Budapest University of Economic Sciences (1997). Currently Professor of political economy and European studies at Central European University, also Professor of economics at the Budapest University of Economic Sciences and Public Administration and University of Debrecen, for 2003–5 Chair of Committee on Economics of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences. Author of about 190 articles and chapters in books published in 18 countries. His books include Eastern Europe in the World Economy (Cambridge UP, 1990) and The Capitalist Revolution in Eastern Europe (E. Elgar, 1995). His recently edited volumes are The Hungarian Small Business in Comparative Perspective (USAID, Washington and Foundation for Economic Research, Budapest, 1998), Economies in Transition and the Varieties of Capitalism (co-editors: M. Dimitrov and W. Andreff, published by Gorex, Sofia, 1999) and Small Economies Adjustment to Global Tendencies (co-editor: Z. Bara, published by Aula, Budapest, 2000).
E-mail: csabal@ceu.hu

Pál Czeglédi (24) is PhD student at the University of Debrecen (Hungary) in the Faculty of Economics and Business Administration where he graduated in 2002. His diploma thesis dealt with the role of stochastic processes in the models of economic growth. Now he is a graduate student at the Faculty of Economics of the University of Debrecen. His field of research is endogenous growth theory and he also teaches undergraduate students economics at the Faculty.
E-mail: pczegledi@economics.econ.klte.hu

Daniel Daianu (51) Professor of Economics, Academy of Economic Studies, Bucharest; Chairman of the Romanian Economic Society and President of the European Association of Comparative Economic Studies; former Finance Minister of Romania (1998); past visiting professorship at Berkeley, UCLA, University of Bologna, etc. Among main publications: Transformation as a Real Process (Aldershot (UK): Ashgate, 1998); Balkan Reconstruction (London: Frank Cass, 2001) with Th. Veremis (ed.).

E-mail: ddaiianu@rnc.ro

Marc Gartner (30) received his MA in International Affairs from Georgetown University in 1998. Since graduating, he has worked as an equity fund manager for a corporate pension plan and a business development associate in the private equity industry. He has also held short-term positions at the European Parliament and in the commercial banking industry. He recently completed a semester as a visiting student in International Relations and European Studies at the Central European University.

E-mail: marcgartner@yahoo.com

Judit Karsai (49) has been working for the Institute of Economics of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences (formerly the Research Institute of Industrial Economics of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences) since 1982 and is a senior research fellow. She has published regularly on the subjects of venture capital financing, management buy-outs, corporate governance, reorganization of companies and enterprise behavior. The European Commission funded the 5-country project co-ordinated by Ms. Karsai which analyzed venture capital financing in Eastern Europe. Between 1999 and 2002 she had been a member of the Editorial Board of the international journal of entrepreneurial finance, Venture Capital published quarterly by Taylor & Francis Ltd., UK. Since 1999 she has been the member of the Industrial Economics Committee of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences and head of the Research Committee of the Hungarian Venture Capital and Private Equity Association.

E-mail: kar@econ.core.hu

Tibor Kárpáti (25) is PhD student at the University of Debrecen (Hungary) in the Faculty of Economics and Business Administration where he graduated in 2001. His thesis dealt with the theoretical framework of management control and its application by a Hungarian company. At present he teaches financial accounting at the same university. His field of research is the measurement of corporate performance, problems connected with deficiencies in annual reports and index systems, the role of FDI in the Hungarian economy.

E-mail: karpatit@economics.econ.klte.hu

Evangelos Siskos (39) holds a BSc and MSc in Economics (1989, Institute of International Relations at the Kiev National T. Shevchenko University, Ukraine)

and PhD in Economics, speciality: International Economic Relations (1998, Ukrainian National Academy of Sciences, Kiev). Since 1999 he is Associate Professor in International Economic Relations at the Department of International Trade, Kastoria Campus at the Technological Educational Institute (TEI) of Western Macedonia, Greece and since 2002 he serves as Head of Department. His research interests focus on international economics, European economic integration, external economic relations of EU and Black Sea countries (BSEC). He has published 3 monographs and 6 peer-reviewed scientific articles in journals.
E-mail: siskos@kastoria.teiko.gr or drsiskos@otenet.gr

Maximilian Spinner (24) is a first-year PhD student in Political Science at the Central European University, Budapest. He holds an MA in Russian and Eastern European Studies of the University of Birmingham (UK). His undergraduate education pursued at Berlin's Freie Universität (Eastern European Studies with Modern History and Law). His current PhD-project is investigating attitudinal patterns of democratic consolidation in Hungary and East Germany. Other research interests concern various issues of political and economic transformation in Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union, in particular the impact of historical legacies.

E-mail: pphspm01@ceu.hu or maxspinner@web.de

Katalin Szabó (59) Professor of Economics at the Department of Comparative Economics of the Budapest University of Economic Sciences and Public Administration. She has been serving as Editor-in-Chief at the main Hungarian periodical in the field of economics since 1986. She is a member of the Department of Economic and Law Sciences of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences with consulting rights, and member of the editorial board of some scientific journals. Her researches are focused on competence based theory of firm and learning and unlearning processes in the information economy. She published eleven books, among them the A „lágyuló” gazdaság (Softening Economy, Budapest: Közgazdasági és Jogi Könyvkiadó, 1989); A posztmodern vállalat (Post-modern Company (co-author), Budapest: Oktatási Minisztérium, 2000); Kommunikáció felsőfokon (Communication at Highest Level, 2nd edition, Budapest: Kossuth Könyvkiadó, 2002), Digitális paradicsom vagy falanszter. A személyes tömegtermelés (Digital Paradise or Phalanstery. The Mass Customisation (co-author), Budapest: Aula Könyvkiadó, 2002) and Tanulás és felejtés vegyes vállalatokban (Learning and Unlearning at Joint Ventures (co-author), Budapest: Oktatási Minisztérium, 2003).

E-mail: kszabo@comp.bke.hu

Ádám Török (51) is Professor of Economics, University of Veszprém and Budapest University of Technology and Economics, and also a recurrent visiting professor at the CEU Economics Department, Budapest; Editor-in-Chief of Acta Oeconomica. MA in International Economics, Karl Marx (Budapest) University of Economics (1976); Diplôme d'Etudes Supérieures Européennes, University of Nancy II, France (Centre Européen Universitaire, 1981); PhD in International Economics, Hungarian Academy of Sciences (1985); Academic habilitation (D.Sc.) at the Hungarian Academy of Sciences (1993); University habilitation at the Janus Pannonius University, Pécs (1996). Corresponding member of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences from 2001. Vice-President of the Hungarian Economic Association (since 1999) and President of the Committee on International and Development Economics, Hungarian Academy of Sciences (since 1999). Publications: more than 140 studies on stabilization policies, Hungarian and international trade, industrial policy and competition policy (31 written in English, German, Spanish or French), including 17 book chapters. Four books and two textbooks published in Hungarian. Three books (one with co-authors) in English. E-mail: torokadam@yahoo.com

Radu Vranceanu (42) is Professor of Economics and Dean of Research with the ESSEC Graduate Business School in Paris. He obtained his Doctorate in Economics from the Paris 2 University. Co-author of several books: Working Time (London: Edward Elgar, 2000), Introduction à la microéconomie des entreprises (Paris: Dunod, 2002) and Macroéconomie (Paris: ESKA, 2003), he also published several papers in international journals: Journal of Labour Economics, Journal of Macroeconomics, Review of International Economics, Economic Systems, etc. (Further details: www.essec.fr). E-mail: Vranceanu@essec.fr