

FORWARD

It is an honor to inform the writers and the readers of the Pollack Periodica, the International Journal for Engineering and Information Sciences, that Dr.-Habil Amália Iványi, PhD, DSc, professor emerita at Faculty of Engineering and Information Technology, University of Pécs, one of the editors of the Journal, on 18 August 2016 has got a State Prize for her research and publication activity as well as for the editorial work carried out at the journal Pollack Periodica.

This prize honored not only her work, but it is for all the people who took part in the work of the Journal; the founder of the Pollack Periodica, deceased Dr. Prof. Miklós Iványi, DSc; Faculty of Engineering and Information Technology, University of Pécs, the host of the Journal; the editors and the reviewers; the workers of the Publishing House, Akadémiai Kiadó; the printing houses; and first of all the talented young researchers, who publish their new scientific results at the Pollack Periodica.

Congratulations to her and thanks to all the participants for publishing in the Pollack Periodica.

Pécs, 25 August 2016

Dr.-Habil. Péter Iványi, PhD
Prof. at Department of System and Software Technology
Faculty of Engineering and Information Technology
University of Pécs